GALVESTON WANTS POSTAL BANK

MAKES FIRST APPLICATION TO BOARD OF TRUSTEES FOR POSTAL SAVING.

Simplified Card and Stamp System
Proposed—Board Not Yet Ready to Adopt.

Washington, July 1.—When the board of trustees of the postal savings banks met today for the first time to organize for the great task ahead of it, Postmaster General Hitchcock laid before the members the first application which he has received for the establishment of a bank. It came from Galveston, Tex., and was signed by a number of citizens. He also called attention to the fact that thereafter numerous other petitions were received, a single one coming from the New England states.

Postal Banks Board Meets.

The meeting of the board was attended by Postmaster General Hitchcock, secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh and Attorney General Wickham. The trustees elected Theodore Weed, who is the chief clerk of the postoffice department, as secretary of the board and ratified the appointment of a committee by Mr. Hitchcock for the purpose of working out the business details of the new institution. H. H. Thompson, superintendent of the division of finance of the postoffice department, is chairman of that committee.

Details of Plan.

The Bureau of Engraving today submitted to the postmaster a tentative form to be used by depositors in making deposits in the postal banks, with the special stamps to be used. The sample is a card about five by three inches and is divided into ten squares. In the upper left hand square is printed the design of the proposed 10-cent stamp and each card when full would represent one dollar in value, which is the minimum amount that can be deposited. The idea is to sell the cards with one stamp already affixed for 10 cents. The stamp are to be had at all postal bank offices and whenever ten such stamps have been accumulated and the card is turned into the postoffice, the holder is to be credited with a $1 deposit.

The board today was not ready to pass upon this detail of the scheme though the members commended its apparent simplicity. This latter is to be taken up in connection with the report of the committee on business detail, which Postmaster General Hitchcock hopes will be at the very next meeting of the trustees.

COL. ROOSEVELT PLANS HIS POLITICAL GAME

The Prescription for Ills of Republicanism Has Not Yet Been Written.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 4.—Col. Roosevelt's preliminary survey of the field of battle has been completed. Like a good general, he has nothing to say of his plans.

Lloyd C. Griscom, president of the New York republican county committee, did not stay over night on Sagamore Hill as had been expected. Before he left he gave Col. Roosevelt a first hand account of just how the colonel was beaten last week at Albany in the fight for the direct primary in the legislature.

The results of the conferences have not been disclosed. Mr. Griscom said before he went up Sagamore Hill that he would not utter a word of what Col. Roosevelt and he had to say, and the colonel Sunday was equally reticent. He let it be known, however, that the real object of the conference was to diagnose what he considers the ill of republicanism in the state.

The prescription has not been written and in all probability will not be until after several other specialists have been summoned in consultation. The most important of these consultations will be between the colonel and Governor Hughes when the discussion of a republican candidate for governor will receive careful consideration. It is regarded as sure that Col. Roosevelt will have a great deal to say about the most perplexing question.

RACE RIOTS RESULT OF FIGHT

NUMEROUS CLASHES BETWEEN WHITES AND BLACKS ALL OVER NATION.

TORCH EVIDENT IN NEW YORK

Police and Firemen Are Called to Restore Order—One Negro Dragged and Beaten.

New York, July 4.—A gang of white men in the "Black and Tan Belt" set fire late tonight to a negro tenement in the middle of the West Side. Police and firemen were ordered out on the jump.

Rioting between whites and blacks broke out in seven different points in the city tonight following the announcement of the Johnson-Jeffries fight.

One negro was dragged from a street car and severely beaten.

Ugly Situation in Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., July 4.—Trouble between the blacks and whites as an outgrowth of Johnson-Jeffries fight was narrowly averted tonight when the police arrested half a dozen whites and one negro. The black yelled: "Hurrah for Johnson!" on a crowded downtown street. He held a knife in his hand, and in an instant several white men had struck him. The police used their clubs freely after the whites had chased the negro into an alley.

The streets are thronged with men of both races in a nasty humor, but the police are vigilant and say they can prevent trouble.

The first disorder arose at the Grand Opera house, where a mixed audience heard the fight bulletins read. Later, some negroes started a parade to celebrate the victory of their fellow-black. This the police stopped at once.

On the order of the police commission, the mounted men, the reserves and the detectives force were called out and the downtown streets patrolled.

Six Receive Wounds.

Roanoke, Va., July 4.—Six negroes with broken heads, six white men locked up and one white man, Joe Chockley, with a bullet wound through his skull and probably fatally wounded, is the net result of clashes here tonight following the announcement that Jack Johnson had defeated James J. Jeffries. Trouble started when a negro, who had just heard the news from Reno, said:

"Now, I guess the white folks will let the negroes alone."

A white man replied: "No," and the two clashed. Police had difficulty in landing the two in jail, being compelled to draw their revolvers. Later a negro shot Chockley and escaped.

The chief of police had the saloons closed a half hour ahead of the regular closing hour.

Number of Fights in Fort Worth. Fort Worth, Tex., July 4.—Every available man of the police department, special officer, have been on duty tonight to quell disorders arising from the Johnson-Jeffries fight.

Numerous affrays among white men have occurred on street corners and in saloons and several negroes who shouted for Johnson have been roughly handled by whites. The outcome of the big fight caused general disgust and dissatisfaction here, where Jeffries was a hot favorite, and those who lost money on the battle are exceedingly sore and easily provoked into quarrels or affrays. Many arrests have been made.

Police Use Clubs.

St. Louis, Mo., July 4.—Rioting in a negro section of St. Louis at Market street and Jefferson avenue followed quickly upon the announcement that Jack Johnson was the victor in the Reno prize fight.

The Eighth District police responded to a riot call, but were powerless to cope with the negroes, who were blocking traffic and making threats.

A second call to the Central District brought out a score of policemen. The negroes were clubbed into submission and dispersed.

Who Soon Retires From the Bench.

Crowd Chases Negro.

Cincinnati, O., July 4.—Intermittent rioting followed the announcement of the result of the Jeffries-Johnson fight and called the police to several sections of the city. On Vine street, the leading thoroughfare of the city, a mob of hundreds of whites chased a negro, who was alleged to have made offensive remarks. He was rescued by being allowed to ascend an elevator in a hotel.

Riots in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 4.—Less than half an hour after the fight result was announced three riot calls were sent in from two police precincts in the Negro Hill district.

Street cars were held up and insulting epithets were hurled at the passengers.

Patrolmen have been summoned to this district from all sections of the city.

New Orleans Negro Severely Beaten.

New Orleans, La., July 4.—While a throng of thousands were gathered along newspaper row in Camp street this afternoon awaiting the returns from the Jeffries-Johnson fight, a negro set up the shout, "Hurrah for Johnson." He was seized by a number of youthful bystanders and severely beaten, but was finally rescued by policemen.

The Coming Race.

Bob Cotton, the prominent wood hauler and the most noted wolf hunter south of the Arkansas river will, with his pack of wolf hounds, run a great race in the near future, pitting his entire congregation of canines against the three dogs of a stranger who passed through the country some time ago. Desiring to know the pedigree and qualities of the stranger's three dogs, Cotton asked for a statement from the other party as to his dogs and their conduct in action.

"This dog is a democrat," replied the stranger, "and when once let out he looks neither to the right nor left but keeps his nose to the ground and runs. That dog is a republican and runs well for a little while, but soon he begins to wobble and turns aside to chase rabbits and sheep. That other dog is a socialist, and when the word is given to run sits on his haunches and howls till you can see every tooth in his mouth."—Holdenville Times.

TWO NEGROES LYNCHED IN MO.

MOB STILL RAVES AFTER BLACK BRUTES HAVE PAID THE PENALTY.

MURDERED WHITE PLANTER

Mob Bent on Burning Negro Section of Charleston, But Cooler Heads Prevail.

Charleston, Mo., July 3.—Two negroes were lynched here Sunday afternoon for the murder of William Fox a planter of Mississippi county. They were taken from the county jail by a large crowd of infuriated citizens who broke down the doors with sledge hammers shortly after 4 o'clock. The negroes were alleged to have shot Fox in the back while riding in his wagon two miles from town Saturday night. He died after identifying his assailants.

Sunday morning farmers began flocking into Charleston. Alarmed by threats of lynching, Sheriff Culp appealed to Governor Hadley for assistance by telephone and swore in a number of deputies. The sheriffs were powerless to check the mob, however. It required two hours to break into the jail. The men rushed in upon the frightened negroes at 3:30 o'clock and with yells took them outside. One negro was hanged immediately in the jail yard, after he had confessed. The other negro was hurried into an automobile and taken to the spot where he had hidden the revolver with which Fox was shot. This weapon was obtained, the negro was taken back to Charleston.

In the presence of nearly five thousand people the second negro was hanged from the yard arm of a crossing sign. The mob was bent on burning the negro section of Charleston, but cooler heads prevailed and quiet was restored late Sunday night. A coroner's jury, tonight returned a verdict to the effect that "the negroes caused to their deaths at the hands of parties unknown."

Judge and Mrs. C. A. Galbraith returned from Sulphur where they rested a day or two.

Entered as Second Class matter, March 26, 1904, at the Postoffice at Ada, Okla., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

One of the reasons advanced why the negro should not be eliminated from politics is that the negro is a laboring man, that the ballot is his defensive weapon and that therefore he should not be disfranchised. These are all very debatable questions. The negro may be classed as a laborer but his labor has never blessed the world. He is often considered the world's cotton producer, but the census reports show that only thirty-nine per cent of the cotton produced in the south is grown by negro labor. As to the argument that the negro has ever been friendly to organized labor has the voter forgotten that negro labor has time and again crushed organized labor by direct competition? Is it not well known that negro labor is the cheapest kind of American labor? And can the voter possibly forget that negroes have in a thousand instances been used by capitalists as effective strike breakers?

We have little patience with the cry that the negro's ballot has always been protective of labor interests. The absurdity of such a contention would be ridiculous if it were not nauseating. From the first day of the negro's disfranchisement monopoly has controlled him body and soul. No capitalist has been elected to the presidency since 1864 that negro suffrage did not contribute to his election. No capitalist can be elected to the presidency without the assistance of negro votes. No reform candidate can be elected to any office in America without overcoming a solid negro vote. No reform measure on the statute books of Oklahoma or in the constitution of Oklahoma has ever been enacted without the dogged opposition of the republican party, backed by the solid negro vote of the state.

PRESIDENT TAFT TAKES STEP IN CONSERVATION

Signs Order Withdrawing 8,495,731 Acres of Power Sites, Phosphate, and Petroleum Lands.

Beverly, June 3—President Taft Sunday took the first step in his conservation policy by signing orders of withdrawal covering 8,495,731 acres of power site, phosphate and petroleum lands.

The president also appointed the five engineer officers of the army who will constitute a board to pass on the reclamation projects to be completed under the recent appropriation of $20,000,000.

It is hinted that there are other important announcements to come with regard to the conservation policy of the administration. The president has summoned Secretary Ballinger for a conference on Tuesday.

The withdrawal orders signed by the president are the first specifically authorized by the new law.

President Taft also signed orders of withdrawal today covering public lands and lands in national forests in Alaska in which workable coal is known to occur, thus ratifying and continuing in full effect the withdrawal made by former President Roosevelt on Nov. 12, 1906.

The water power area withdrawn by President Taft cover a total of 1,454,499 acres. The phosphate lands withdrawn total 2,594,113 acres and the petroleum lands 4,447,119 acres.

Moving Into New Home Today.

Mr. Simpson, proprietor of the Surprise store, is today moving into his handsome new home on 17th street, just west of Broadway. This is one of the most beautiful and convenient residences in Ada, and is built after the Gothic style of architecture, veneered with yellow pressed brick. It has every modern convenience, and Mr. Simpson, and his estimable lady have every reason to be proud of their new place of abode. We are told that the house cost between $7000 and $8000.

JEFFRIES A BROKEN IDOL

GREATEST FIGHT OF HISTORY PASSES CHAMPIONSHIP TO THE NEGRO.

JEFF NOT HIS FORMER SELF

Johnson Gets Off With a Slight Bruise—Jeffries Was Badly Bent.

Reno, Nev., July 4—John Arthur Johnson, a negro from Texas, the son of an American slave, tonight is the undisputed heavyweight champion of the world.

James J. Jeffries of California, winner of twenty-two championship fights, the man who never before was brought to his knees by a blow, tonight passed into history as a broken idol. He met utter defeat at the hands of the black champion.

Was Not Actually Counted Out.

While Jeffries was not actually counted out he was saved only from this humiliation by his friends pleading with Johnson not to hit the fallen man again and the towel was brought into the ring from his corner. At the end of the fifteenth round Referee Tex Rickard raised the black arm and the great crowd fled out, silent and dumb.

Jeffries was dragged to his corner, bleeding from nose and mouth and a dozen cuts on the face. He had a black closed eye and swollen features and he held his head in his hands dazed and incoherent.

Johnson walked off the ring without a mark on his body, except a slight cut on his lip, which was the opening of a wound received in training.

Not Even a Championship Fight.

Ring experts agree that it was not even a championship fight. Jeffries had a chance in the second round, perhaps, but after the sixth it was plain that he was weakened and outclassed in every point, and after the eleventh round it was hopeless.

It was the greatest demonstration the ring has ever seen of the failure of a fighter to 'come back' after years of retirement.

The youth and science of the black man made Jeffries look like a green man. The great Jeffries was like a log. The reviled Johnson was like a black panther in his alertness and defensive tactics.

Jeff Only Shell of Old Self.

Jeffries fought by instinct, it seemed, showing his gameness and his great fighting heart in every round but he was only the shell of his old self. The old power to take a terrible beating and bore it was gone. After the third round Johnson treated his opponent almost as a joke. He smiled and blocked playfully, warding off the bearlike rushes of Jeffries with a marvelous science, now ducking a blow under his arm, again plucking it out of the air as a man stops a baseball.

JUSTICE FULLER PASSES AWAY

DIES AT HIS SUMMER HOME AT SORRENTO MAINE.

LIVED A VERY QUIET LIFE

Was Appointed Under Grover Cleveland in 1888 and Was Third Longest in Service.

Bar Harbor, Maine, July 4—Chief Justice Melville Fuller of the United States Supreme Court died of heart failure at his summer home in Sorrento at 6 o'clock this morning.

The death of Chief Justice Fuller was entirely unexpected, as he had been apparently in good health lately, and there had been no premonitory symptoms of any kind of trouble. Yesterday he attended church as usual, and when he retired last night was to all appearances in his customary health. Death came about 6 o'clock this morning.

His daughter, Mrs. Nathaniel Francis, and Rev. James Freeman, who was the guest of Justice Fuller at his Sorrento cottage 'Mainstay' were with the distinguished jurist when he died.

The funeral services will be held at Sorrento, and burial will be at Chicago. The date for the funeral has not yet been fixed. Chief Justice Fuller was in his seventy-sixth year.

Chief Justice Fuller was third in rank for length of service as presiding justice in the highest tribunal of the American government. For twenty-two years he was chief justice in the highest tribunal of the American government. For twenty-two years he was chief justice of the United States, but Chief Justice Marshall presided over the court for thirty-four years and Chief Justice Taney for twenty-eight years.

Native of Augusta, Maine.

Mr. Fuller was born at Augusta, Maine, on Feb. 11, 1833. He became an associate editor on a democratic paper, called the Age, when a young man and about the same time was elected president of the city council and then city solicitor. Soon thereafter he left Maine for the greater opportunities in Chicago. From 1856 to 1893 he lived in Chicago, but attracted little attention outside his immediate circle of friends and associates at the bar until he undertook the defense of Bishop Cheney on a charge of heresy. His knowledge on ecclesiastical history and procedure astonished those who conducted the case and his argument of the cause of the bishop before the supreme court of Illinois is referred to still as a forensic feat seldom, if ever, surpassed in that court.

Lived a Quiet Life.

He was a delegate to the National conventions of the democratic party in 1872, 1876, 1880 and 1884. The Maine boy who had gone west accomplished much, notwithstanding his quiet life. He had laid the foundations for a deep understanding of the commercial laws of the country and along this line he had performed services for his clients which were estimated to have netted him an annual income of $30,000. These accomplishments led the republican senators from Illinois to urge upon President Cleveland the appointment of Mr. Fuller as the successor of Justice Waite in 1888.

The nomination of Mr. Fuller, then 55 years of age, was followed by a memorable contest in the senate.

The Judiciary committee, with its republican majority, to which the nomination was sent April 30, held up the appointment until July 20. Then the committee reported it to the senate 'without recommendation.'

Noted for His Dignity.

Throughout his service Chief Justice Fuller was noted for the dignity with which he filled the position. He preserved that manner, whether on the bench or off of it. Although small of stature, not more than five feet seven inches, his wealth of silvery hair and classic features made him a commanding figure wherever he appeared.

Probably Mark Twain resembled the Chief Justice in physical appearance more than any other man of prominence in recent years. Frequently the humorist was mistaken for the jurist.

Chief Justice Fuller reflected to a great extent his research into literature by the style of his opinions and addresses. In the earlier days, after going on the bench, he wrote some poetry and now and then lapsed into poetical touches in his opinions from the bench.

WM. H. MURRAY SPEAKS TO ARDMORE AUDIENCE

SENATOR LITTLE OF ARDMORE SAYS JOHNSON COUNTY MAN MADE GOOD IMPRESSION AND WILL POLL A GOOD VOTE AT ARDMORE.

To the News

Ardmore, Okla., July 2—William H. Murray spoke today in Ardmore, the home town of Lee Cruce, to a large and enthusiastic audience. The speaking was in the district court room and it was crowded to its utmost capacity and hundreds of people were unable to get in. All standing room was taken, the overflow extending to adjoining buildings.

He spoke for two and one-half hours and the audience was an appreciative one. He had invited Hon. Lee Cruce to meet here today in joint discussion. During the course of his speech, Mr. Murray went into the history of tribal affairs, stating that he had always been the friend of the Indian, but that every citizen of the state should be governed by the same rule of the law. He began by stating that the occasion of his coming to Carter County, the home of Lee Cruce, was that Cruce's supporters had been making a gum shoe campaign in his county and that A. C. Cruce, a brother of Lee Cruce, had on different occasions misrepresented his position on various matters of public policy.

Since his speech here it is freely predicted that Murray will poll a strong vote in Carter County and many persons believe that he will receive a majority of the votes in the county. He made a strong impression here. He discussed the Torrens land system and other questions most of which were discussed in his Altus speech.

Mr. Murray closed by stating that he would be at all the places at which it has been arranged to have joint discussions and he hoped that Mr. Cruce would also be on hand. He has no other speaking dates until Tuesday at which time he will be in Anadarko for the first of the series of joint discussions.

DEBATES BEGIN AT ANADARKO TODAY

Will Be Here Friday—Ross First Friday, Kirk, Second, Murray, Third and Cruce, Fourth.

Anadarko, Oklahoma, July 5—Joint speeches by the four democratic gubernatorial candidates, in response to a challenge issued by William H. Murray of Tishomingo began this morning, and will continue for five engagements as follows: End Wednesday, Oklahoma City, Thursday, Ada, Friday and Durant, Saturday. The agreement signed by the candidates on June 7 provides that the first speech here shall be by Brant Kirk, after which he goes to the foot of the list, and the second man here becomes the first man at End. This will be Murray, with the first speech at Oklahoma City, given to Cruce, the first at Ada to Ross and the first at Durant to Kirk. Since signing the agreement J. B. A. Robertson of Chandler has withdrawn from the race. Meetings begin at 10:30 a. m., where train schedules permit, and each candidate is to have an hour and a half of time, with no rejoinder.

An Inquiry.

A man today asked another "Wonder if it will be safe to bring the children out to the joint discussion Friday?"

"Why," responded the one addressed "I didn't no but what the 'Kentucky Colonel' from Ardmore might pull off a 'Kentucky style' feat during the show. If he should I would want the kids at home."

SPENT A GLORIOUS FOURTH

A party of twenty-five or thirty of Ada's patriotic young people who were bent on enjoying a safe and sane Fourth, went picnicking at the beautiful home of Messrs. William B. and H. D. Johnson west of town. The Johnson brothers prepared two wagons, covered them with hay, and conveyed their friends to their home yesterday morning and back to town last night.

The merry crowd having arrived at their destination while it was yet cool in the morning, spent the time enjoying the freedom of country life, walking, riding, singing, playing and having a general good time in the open.

At the noon hour luncheon was served in wholesale, picnic style, and judging from reports on hand would be convinced that there was no lack of good things to eat and that those present did creditable service to the lunch.

In the afternoon there was more music and mirth till time to lunch again; then the pleasure seekers enjoyed a second bountiful repast. When the evening was nearly spent they turned cityward again arriving home about eleven o'clock. All report a most delightful time, a glorious Fourth. The personnel of the party was as follows:

Misses: Tupper, Alpha Sladg, Della Vogl, Hazel Benson, Maude Henderson, Alleyne Shand, Bernice Williams, Lucille Wakefield, Gertrude Thompson, Mabel Davis, Miss Gray, Ella Greer, Mattie Currie, Messrs: Epers, Haraway, Wyatt, Little, Thompson, Bryan, Eddie, Clifford Hardin, Ben Thompson, Mrs. Hardin, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker, Mrs. Blig.

Socialists at Daggs Park.

Stanley J. Clark addressed the meeting of the state socialist encampment yesterday afternoon. A tent full of men, women, boys and girls were present when he began to speak. The audience was much less when he had concluded. The larger number of the audience who sat and appeared to hear Clark, evidently remained through inertia. There were no where else to go or elsewhere to sit than under the tent, unless there should be attended the negro minstrel show.

Clark appears to be a follower of the German socialist, Herr Bebel, the advocate of free love, and the abrogation of the marriage law and other demoralizing theories. It was a pitiful view, men of presumable integrity and force of character applauding Stanley J. Clark, even as he was uttering expressions of gross imposition on the audience and embarrassing to all the pure womanhood present. It is understood there are many socialists in Pontotoc county. Most of them are attending the Ada socialist encampment. When they have heard Clark and his colleagues for three days and have had opportunity to get better acquainted, it is safe to predict that socialism will not have accomplished much here-around.

Two Months Too Long to Wait. There was a swain and a lass who wished to be joined in the holy bonds of matrimony yesterday, and laid their complaint before Judge Terrell.

The Judge learning that the girl would not arrive at age till some time in September, sorrowfully imparted the information to the lovers that there was nothing to do but wait, saying "It will not be long anyway will it?"

To this the maiden replied with a sigh, "It is a long time, a mighty long time."

TOO YOUNG TO WED HER PAPA THOUGHT

A pretty little story may be told of a somewhat romantic wedding of last Sunday. The bride a girl of fifteen summers lived with her parents at Stonewall, the groom a young man a few years her senior, lived at Stonewall also. These young people finding it hard to live apart decided to take a voyage together on the uncertain sea of matrimony and stormy was their first day. They eloped and were married, the girl's father learning of their whereabouts persuaded the girl to return home immediately to see her mother who had taken convenient leave of her. The girl returned to the maternal roof only to be taken prisoner and brought to Ada by her father yesterday, her father hoping to have the license revoked.

Mr. Bryant, for that is the groom's name, learning of the unhappy capture of his bride phoned W. B. Adair here to capture the father, Mr. Henry.

There was no warrant for the latter's arrest, consequently Mr. Adair had no authority to make an arrest. But upon going to the train to meet the irate parent, he learned that the father of the girl would have the wedding annulled, and prosecute the girl's husband for perjury. The groom was determined to have revenge and was going to file a complaint against his father-in-law for kidnapping.

Suffice after taking the matter over with the officer and friends, all was made well with the father, and the husband. Now no one will be lawed. All are happy especially the boy and the girl.

Socialist Encampment in Progress.

Yesterday being the Fourth and a good many desiring to go somewhere went to the socialist picnic where the socialists were raising dust, selling every worthless article that a large profit could be made on, including their literature.

The party spell binders were carrying with all four feet trying to howl, preach, paw, jam, crowd, pound and soak into the minds of an American audience that a black skinned, woolly headed, minkey smelling, be-nighted nigger is a white man's equal.

And furthermore they advised their comrades to trade and patronize with no other than socialists. For God's sake socialists, take your leaders' advice, and for the sake of Oklahoma and the good of Pontotoc county, do; and the county would be rid of you before this month passes.

Where would you rent land? Where would you buy your necessities? Where would you get CREDIT? Yes, for the sake of civilization do patronize your comrades just one month and this country would be a good deal better off morally, socially and politically once for all; for you would surely have decamp.

THE COMING PRESBYTERIAN UNION MEETING

The arrangements have been made to have the Presbyterian Union meeting to begin on next Sunday morning. The various committees have been appointed, the big choir will soon be formed, the co-operation of all denominations have practically been assured and a great meeting from the first is expected.

The following relative Rev. E. E. Hendrick who will begin the revival was taken from the California Sentinel of California, Pa.:

"Neither Mr. Hendrick or Mr. Carter are sensational in their methods, although, introducing unique features in their meetings. The Sunday morning service demonstrated this. Mr. Hendrick speaks rapidly but plainly, in homely, convincing language. His sermons are punctuated with narratives, grave and gay, but his manner of delivery is at all times pleasing. He depends largely upon anecdote for the force of his talks, and only at times does he rise to the heights of an orator in the common acceptance of the term. A number have remarked that his methods are singularly like those of the late Mr. Moody; who so stirred the country in days passed. He is frankly and openly an optimist, as his kindly face shows, and believes in the inherent goodness of the world as well as its proneness to evil. And to that goodness he appeals with telling force. His sermons are straight gospel talks, closing with appeals to the sinner to come to Christ, and to the christian to get closer to Christ."

A Bold Bad Robbery.

One night last week when the Katy Limited, northbound, stopped in Ada, some enterprising youth reached into the berth of a Pullman passenger and grabbed the apparel of a sleeping passenger, made away with it, and, presumably, stole the entire outfit. The Daily Star made a note of it at the time. Here is the sequel of the story from the Kansas City Star.

When a Missouri, Kansas & Texas train pulled into the union depot from Oklahoma yesterday morning, Ackert Bickel of 203 Jackson avenue, a division manager for the Freeborn Engineering Company, awoke from a refreshing sleep in a Pullman car, stretched himself, and reached out for his trousers.

"Look again, porter, I'm sure that's where I left them," Mr. Bickel insisted.

But they weren't there. Neither was Mr. Bickel's shirt, coat, shoes or other personal belongings.

"Is it very light outside, porter?" Mr. Bickel asked resignedly.

"Sun has been up two hours, boss," answered the porter.

"Let us sit down and think," said Mr. Bickel.

They sat down and thought.

"Do you suppose," suggested Mr. Bickel, buttoning his pajamas closely about him, "you could get a cab to back up to the rear end of the Pullman and rig up one of those canopies such as are used over the sidewalk at a church wedding?"

"Couldn't be done, boss," said the porter. "This train backs out in ten minutes. Think some more."

"There was $50 in my pocketbook and the pocketbook was in my trousers," said Mr. Bickel. "Get me a cab and a blanket and keep the change."

Arrayed in one of the purple hangings which the Pullman company suffocates its patrons on hot nights, Mr. Bickel made a dash through the waiting room of the depot to Union avenue and leaped into a cab, shedding the Pullman tapestry into the hands of the porter as he slammed the door.

"Which hospital, sir?" the driver asked.

"There has been no wreck," said Mr. Bickel, coldly. "Drive me home, if you please, without unnecessary comment."

His Daughter-in-Law

By John Philip Artie

Granger Malton had ambitions. If it had not been so he never would have attained the eminence in the world that was his, for only dogged persistence, an iron will and desire for power would have sufficed to overcome the handicaps that had been his as a poverty-stricken boy and youth.

Now that all things material were his, he began to yearn for other joys—social supremacy, for one. Shrewd enough to realize the race was run for himself, he centered his schemes and hopes on his only son, Hadley. It made him satisfied with life and repaid him for his struggles when he looked at Hadley, who was everything his father was not—big, handsome, clever of speech and graceful of manner, so distinguished by his spirit of sheer good nature and well being that he was always a marked man when he entered a room. He drew people to him by a magnetism that was irresistible. He was pointed out by the crowd as a shining exception to the general run of extremely rich men's sons, and Granger Malton let himself dream dreams as to Hadley's future, especially concerning his marriage.

Hadley's mother, long dead, had sprung from the same class as Granger himself, and as the older man looked back through the vista of years and recalled her, colorless, faithful, commonplace and awkward, he wondered a little sadly what she would have done with the money and the granite palace and the power that would have been hers. Stern honesty told him she would have done nothing—would have sunk beneath the weight in awkward terror.

He could fancy her shrinking through the big halls of the home he and Hadley occupied. No; Mary would not have been happy; she could not have grown into the station Fate had in store for her. Moreover, she would have hampered him. He was resolved that the girl Hadley married should be one who would not hamper him; for his son was to progress even further than he had done. His wife must have been brought up in luxury from the cradle, so what would have made Hadley's mother gasp would be taken as a matter of course by her. She must have beauty and youth and the sort of sweet haughtiness that comes from careful sheltering and breeding. She must be fitted by birth and bringing up to reign over the huge Malton house on Fifth Avenue and the country place at Newport.

For a year or so, Granger Malton had been calmly reviewing the younger beauties of the town trying to decide which one Hadley should marry, for he never doubted his son's willingness to please him in this point. He was too shrewd to dictate, but he knew how to manage him. Let the boy think he had all the rope he wanted and yet twitch the rope in the direction he wished Hadley to go. He decided that it was time to disclose carefully his general views to his son one night as they sat over their coffee and cigars in the big library, but his speech was checked by the curious expression on the young man's face. Never had he seen him so pale, so tensely nervous, yet so fearless.

"Father," Hadley broke the silence which fell as Granger Malton's words trailed off into nothingness in his surprise, "don't talk to me of marriage—of your wishes—your views! I have something to tell you myself tonight. I was married this morning to—"

He ceased and sprang forward at his father's ghastly face, but the older man motioned him away as he slowly recovered his self-control. Yet his face was gray and aged from the moment. He stared at Hadley with an awful curiosity, as something new and strange. "Married!" he echoed at last, chokingly. "I can't believe it! You! To do a thing like that! After all my plans. You've spoiled your life! Men don't run off and marry secretly when they are proud of the girl! Who is she? Do I know her?"

"No," said the son, as white as his father. "You don't know her. But—"

Granger Malton lost his head as the full realization of what this meant broke over him. He shook one trembling hand at his son. "Go!" he said hoarsely. "It might as well be now, for the break would come, sooner or later! I'll have no shop girl or chorus girl brought here to make me a laugh."

Thompson FIT FOR COMMAND Tact

By Louise Spencer

"So we're the decoration committee, we three—you and Jean and I." Mrs. Jones stood in the middle of the lodge room of the new club house and looked critically at the broad expanse of undecorated wall. Then, pulling off her gloves looking with a teasing smile at Robert Hastings, she went on: "I see how you manage it, Robert. Nothing like being the son of the president of the club, and having any one you want appointed on your committees. And only last month you and Jean were on the house committee together!"

"Fiddlesticks!" replied the young man abruptly. "On my word of honor I didn't know Jean was on the committee till you told me. Come, let's look over these pictures and have them ready to hang."

"Here she is now, the dear!" exclaimed Mrs. Jones, hurrying to greet the new comer, a frank-eyed young girl, whose graceful step and fresh color declared her athletic distinction. She looked inquiringly at Robert as soon as she was free from Mrs. Jones' embrace.

"Can't help it, Jean. I'm not responsible," said the young man with an air of indifference, as he arranged the pictures in a row against the wall for inspection.

The club house door swung noisily open and the president, Mr. Hastings, entered the room. He was an athletic, white-haired man, past middle age, whose pleasant, frank eyes, and simple smile, always brought the light into Jean's girlish face.

"This is good," he said, laying a fatherly hand on her shoulder. "You and Bob are doing good team work again. How you have improved the place, Mrs. Jones! A fire there on the hearth, these pictures in place, and we'll be in ship-shape."

"Get a Dinner Date Tonight, Jean?"

"I say, Mrs. Jones," said Robert, holding up a framed photograph of a placid, middle-aged man for inspection. "Where does this go?"

"Oh, be sure to put that in the best place," Mrs. Jones answered. "Not that Mr. Thompson was a whit better president than you, Mr. Hastings, for he wasn't. Here, Robert, call the steward to do that. You'll certainly break your neck or smash your thumbs. Oh, well, all right. There, that's a fine place for Mr. Thompson, right opposite the door. Such a way as that man had, too. You remember, don't you Mr. Hastings? He could make any one do anything he wanted him to. Diplomacy, I suppose you'd call it, but we always called it 'Thompson Tact.' I remember when my husband—and a stubborn man he is, too—had charge of the tennis courts when the club started, he was bound there should be three turf events and only one dirt one, Fancy! Well, everybody was excited about it and he was going right ahead with his own notion. Then one day Mr. Thompson smiled and said that he wanted four turf courts and didn't want any others at all. Every one was thunderstruck. Mr. Thompson insisted till my husband forgot all about what he had said in the beginning and read up on dirt courts till he was a regular expert, and then Mr. Thompson, gradually, just as if he was being convinced, let my husband argue him over."

Here Mrs. Jones laughed. "Mr. Jones never said another word about the three turf courts he had wanted, and the thing went through just as every one wanted it." Here she lowered her voice and whispered, "And he doesn't know to this day that Mr. Thompson was just using tact."

"M'm," assented Robert, from the top of the ladder, "not a bad idea, that."

A few minutes later the work of the committee was completed and Jean was the first to leave. As Hastings saw the girl's face through the door, with the wind in her hair, he suddenly remarked, "Oh, Bob, go and ask Jean to have dinner with us tonight. Your mother asked me to, and I forgot."

A momentary protest lingered on the young man's lips. Then he climbed down from his ladder, and with deliberation, took his hat and swung out of the club house. He walked slowly down the path to the country road.

AN ORIENTAL TALE WITH A MORAL.

Chinese General Who Taught Soldiers to Obey Orders and Won Deserved Recognition of Merit From His King.

Ho Lu said to Sun Tzu: "I have carefully perused your 13 chapters. May I submit your theory of managing soldiers to a slight test?" Sun Tzu replied: "You may." Ho Lu asked: "May the test be applied to women?" The answer was again in the affirmative, so arrangements were made to bring 180 ladies out of the palace. Sun Tzu divided them into two companies, according to Lionel Giles' translation of "Sun Tzu on the Art of War," and placed one of the king's favorite concubines at the head of each. He then bade them all take spears in their hands and addressed them thus: "I presume you know the difference between front and back, right hand and left hand?" The girls replied: "Yes." Sun Tzu went on: "When I say 'Eyes front,' you must look straight ahead. When I say 'Left turn' you must face toward your left hand. When I say 'Right turn' you must face toward your right hand. When I say 'About turn' you must face right around toward the back." Again the girls assented. The words of command having been thus explained, he set up the halberds and battleaxes in order to begin the drill. Then to the sound of drums he gave the order "Right turn." But the girls only burst out laughing. Sun Tzu said: "If words of command are not clear and distinct, if orders are not thoroughly understood, then the general is to blame." So he started drilling them again and this time gave the order: "Left turn," whereupon the girls once more burst into fits of laughter. Sun Tzu said: "If words of command are not clear and distinct, if orders are not thoroughly understood, the general is to blame. But if his orders are clear and the soldiers nevertheless disobey, then it is the fault of their officers." So saying, he ordered the leaders of the two companies to be beheaded.

Now the king of Wu was watching the scene from the top of the raised pavilion, and when he saw that his favorite concubines were about to be executed he was greatly alarmed and hurriedly sent down the following message: "We are now quite satisfied as to our general's ability to handle troops. If we are bereft of these two concubines our meat and drink will lose their savor. It is our wish that they shall not be beheaded." Sun Tzu replied: "Having once received his majesty's commission to be general of his forces, there are certain commands of his majesty which, acting in that capacity, I am unable to accept." Accordingly he had the two leaders beheaded and straightway installed the pair next in order as leaders in their place. When this had been done the drum was sounded for the drill once more and the girls went through all the evolutions, turning to the right or the left, marching ahead or wheeling back, kneeling or standing with perfect accuracy and precision, not venturing to utter a sound. Then Sun Tzu sent a messenger to the king saying: "Your soldiers, sire, are now properly drilled and disciplined, and ready for your majesty's inspection. They can be put to any use that their sovereign may desire. Bid them go through fire and water, and they will not disobey." But the king replied: "Let our general cease drilling and return to camp. As for us, we have no wish to come down and inspect the troops." Thereupon Sun Tzu said: "The king is only fond of words, and cannot translate them into deeds." After that Ho Lu saw that Sun Tzu was one who knew how to handle an army and finally appointed him general.
